- Create a culture of project transparency and collaboration
- Provide project oversight by validating plans and evaluating status

Leading Project Managers

This two-day advanced workshop teaches the leaders of organizations the necessary skills to build the infrastructure your project managers need to deliver successful projects. By helping to improve your essential skills needed to be a leader, you will learn how to improve your organization's overall health regarding their strategy, priorities, stakeholder relationships, resources, and oversight.

Who Should Attend?

Are you in upper management and do you have a good understanding of project management, either through training or certification, but would like to learn how to improve the overall health of your organization? If so, then this course is for you.

What Past Attendees Have Said...

"As a Senior Leader, I feel that I am constantly trying to improve the way I interact with the people out in the trenches – those rolling up their sleeves every day to get our projects completed. This course provided tried and true methods to manage my managers. This will help me really "connect" with my entire organization."

Our Instructors

This workshop is delivered by facilitators who are effective leaders and have dealt with all aspects of world-wide organizations, and they are also comfortable addressing the needs of adult learners. They are also expert project managers and share their real-world experiences throughout the course.

Duration and Format

This instructor-led course can be completed in two days or spread across several days, depending upon your organization's needs. Participants will participate in group discussions, small group activities, and case study activities. The course can be customized to meet your specific needs.
